

1837 - No. 2A - Middle & West Florida - Aug. 6-7

A portion of St. George Island was flooded by a large storm surge. An inlet was formed due to this storm, but sediments closed it around 1900.
(46th Weather Squadron, Eglin AFB, FL)

This mysterious storm was felt in the Gulf on Aug. 7. No reports from southern Georgia and Alabama are available. A marked storm center moved west of Pensacola and St. Marks, indicated by the wind flow of strongest gusts from the S at Pensacola and from the ESE at St. Marks.
