

Pensacola Storm - Sept. 22-23, 1842

Pensacola
Gales on Sept. 22-23 were described as "severe".
No lives were lost and no serious damage reported.
Winds were not felt to the W of Pensacola.

This storm of less than hurricane strength was described at Pensacola on the 22nd and 23rd of Sept. It was likely a new storm born out of the same conditions that created the Galveston storm of the previous week.
