Description
The course focuses on the spatial aspects of population growth and distribution, cultural differentiation, urban growth and decline, the spread of ideas and innovations, regional development, and the location of economic activity, as well as problems associated with these processes. This introductory course will introduce students to several subfields of study, including population, urban, economic, cultural, and political geography, as well as fundamental geographic concepts.

Objectives
The course provides a basic understanding of people and places. The course is also structured to provide an introduction to basic concepts of human geography within the discussion of people, places and physical landscapes. The purpose of the course is to improve students’ understanding of the world, and to develop skills of critical thinking and cross-cultural understanding. Human Geography is designed to introduce students to the processes that link places together, and how these linkages affect places and people. Understanding such processes is crucial if we are to understand how events in one part of the world have effects in other parts of the world, and how these effects play out on the landscape.

Recommended Materials

You will also be responsible for material from films and other assigned readings.

Lectures, reading, and study guides
You are responsible for material in lecture, text, films, and any other supplementary materials. Please do not ask me to make copies of the notes for you. You are responsible for retrieving any notes from classes that you have missed. In general, I will post the PowerPoint presentations from the lectures, but not lecture notes.

Course Policies
Attendance
Attendance will be checked occasionally which contributes to your participation grade. There will be no make-up opportunities for in-class assignments or other projects that contribute to your participation grade.

Classroom Etiquette
In order to create an environment where students are able to interact and learn it is imperative the all cell phones, pagers, and other electronic devices be turned OFF (not on silent mode or vibrate). Text messaging is not allowed during class. Laptops should only be used for note-taking purposes. Students not obeying this policy will be asked to leave class. If you are expecting an important phone call you are to notify me during the beginning of the class.

Blackboard website and email

Please be sure that you have access to the Blackboard course website. You will need your FSU email account name and password to access this site. In Blackboard, I can only send email to your FSU account. If you use a different account, it is your responsibility to set up your FSU account to forward to your preferred email.

Religious Days

If you wish to participate in religious day activities that interfere with scheduled class days or assignments, please inform me during the first week of class.

Assignments and Responsibilities

Evaluation for this course will be through:

- Four in-class exams
- Two Written Assignments
- Participation (including in-class activities and other small assignments)

Grading Scale

- A (94-100), A- (90-93), B+ (87-89), B (84-86), B- (80-83), C+ (77-79), C (72-76), C- (70-71)
- D+ (66-69), D (62-65), D- (60-61), F (0-59)

Final Grades will follow the breakdown listed above and grades will not be rounded. That means that 89.9% earns a B+ even though it is just one point from an A. There has to be a cutoff at some point, and that means that some students barely make a grade, but others barely miss it. Do your best in ALL of your work so that you don’t fall just short of your goal.

Exams

Exams are graded out of 100 points each and consist of only multiple choices. After the first person finishes an exam, all late arrivals will be required to take a make-up exam. All absences for exams must have an FSU approved excuse that is given in advance of the exam. In the case of unexpected illness, you must provide me with a doctor’s excuse within 3 days of the missed exam in order to take a make-up exam. Failing to do so will result in a zero. All make-up exams include an extended essay component.

Written Assignments
The written assignments are each worth 15% of your grade. The assignments require you to examine the world through a geographic lens and while they are meant to be fun, you will also need to take them seriously to earn a good grade. (Don’t wait until the night before an assignment is due to begin working on it!) Instructions will be provided in detail later this semester. Late written assignments will be penalized 10 points per day. (Saturday –Sunday counts as one day.)

Class Participation
Attendance will be checked occasionally which will contribute to your participation grade. Throughout the semester, we’ll have several in-class activities which will count toward your participation grade in the course. Being in class, on-time, prepared and in an appropriate head space to actively engage in learning is an important element of your evaluation.
