Playoff Contender	Notes	Joined NHASED	Crete Championships
Chris H.	1st appearance in the playoffs. Has two top-10 finishes, including a 3rd place in 2013. Chris is the longest-tenured NHASEDer in the playoff field.	2005	None
Jason R.	4th appearance in the playoffs (7th in 2015, 1st in 2021, 7th in 2022). Has 4 top-10 finishes in the final standings and three of those were top-5. Jason introduced the passing of the champion's jacket and is looking to bring it back home.	2010	2021
Beth D.	Our defending champion is making her second appearance in the playoffs. She finished in the top 10 in both 2022 and 2023. She would be the first back-to-back champion since Brian T in 2004 and 2005. She would be the 5th multi-time champion (Brian T, Dan, Bill P, and Noah have all won twice).	2014	2023
Becki	2nd appearance in the playoffs (6th in 2021). Looking for her first career top 10 finish. Trying to utilize good karma from her Ireland postcards and win the Crete before her husband, Matt D.	2016	None
Tommy	Made the playoffs in 2017 (finished 8th), but had the best overall record. Won the doormat award in 2020, so looking for redemption.	2016	None
Kristin	2nd appearance in the playoffs (4th place in 2023), so that makes back-to-back playoff appearances. She has two top-10 finishes, and was the DJ Red Hot Pick winner in 2020.	2017	None
Steve S.	First appearance in the playoffs. He won the rookie of the year in 2017, and that year he finished 15th place overall . . . his best finish so far. I will assume that he is a Texas fan, and so has a rooting interest in the NCAA playoffs.	2017	None
Erin	2nd appearance in the playoffs (6th place in 2023), so that makes back-to-back playoff appearances. Looking for his 1st career top 10 finish. Recently converted from a UF fan to an FSU fan, so is riding some good karma because of that decision.	2020	None
Chuck	Won the rookie of the year in 2022. This is his first playoff appearance. As a Vol fan, he has a rooting interest in the NCAA playoffs. The least-tenured NHASEDer in the playoff field.	2022	None
